

Abstract

Nucleic acid sequences that identify a gene product associated with Glioblastoma Multiforme are disclosed. Nucleic acid probes for mRNA transcripts whose expression is associated with glioblast transformation and methods for using these probes in identifying patients at risk for progression into a malignant phenotype are also disclosed.

5